

Diocesan School for Girls' own magazine

Dio Today is a professionally produced magazine designed to showcase student activity and achievement, events in the Diocesan community, news of alumnae, updates from our Principal and strategic developments within the School.

Produced twice a year, Dio Today is available in print or online and distributed in July and December to approximately 9000 people. Circulation includes the current school families, staff, alumnae and friends of Diocesan. Dio Today is also available on our website which attracts over 140,000 unique visitors every year.

Dio Today presents an opportunity to reach a local market that places value on quality. This is reflected in every aspect of the magazine, from the professional design and photography to the satin paper stock, all of which contribute to the creation of a premium product.

OUR MARKET AT A GLANCE

Our target market, made up of current parents and alumnae, is predominantly females between the ages of 30 and 60. The majority are located in the central Auckland area but there are a large group of alumnae across New Zealand and overseas who access our magazine online.

A fine black line around the ad will be added only if its background is white and it needs to be visually separated from the copy.
